LARGE CROWD LOOKED FOR

Everything is in readiness for the big reunion next week. Among the requests for tents received today was one from Comrade Hull of Gray county, who declares that they will bring a crowd of 500 from Gray county alone, and he wants all the tents that he can get. There are a large number of counties that will send good delegations, but Gray county is figuring on bringing the largest crowd that will attend from any one county outside of Ford.

The Goldie Cole Stock Co., will hold forth at the Opera House commencing Monday. Opening their week's engagement with "The Little Princess" with Miss Cole in the title role.

Ladies are to be admitted free Monday when accompanied by a paid ticket.

The company will be remembered in Dodge City from last season, having played a week's engagement last November.

This is the company's 3rd year in Kansas, and their plays are all new for this season.

Mr. Edward T. Hamilton and Miss Dolly Moody, of Spearville, were married here at the Christian parsonage yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the pastor M. Lee Sorey performing the ceremony. The contracting parties are popular young people of Spearville, where they will make their home.

At the regular second meeting for the month, the city council occupied most of its time last Wednesday evening with the routine business. W. J. Fitzgerald, who was present at the meeting, made a talk to the council regarding the water works proposition. Mr. Fitzgerald was formerly on the committee of the council that gave a great deal of time to the study of the matter. In view of the recent offer the council made to give the company $30,000 for its mains, etc., together with a contract for pumping, and a ten year franchise for lighting the city at a 10 cent rate, Mr. Fitzgerald stated that while he was not in favor of municipal ownership here, he thought there might be something worse than that. The partnership plan proposed, he thought, would be the worst thing that could be entered into. A 10 cent rate in the business part of town for lights and power, would be practically prohibitive, and out of the question. Such a contract, under the present laws, could be repudiated by the people. A rate of 5 or 6 cents for pumping, would be a bad thing. One trouble now is that water is being wasted and stolen. If large amounts are stolen and wasted in future, under such a contract, the city would have to pay the company for pumping it just the same, and the more waste the better for the company. Mr. Fitzgerald said that if we had to come to city ownership, he favored a new plant through out, both for water and light, including the engines and building. A partnership affair he believes would raise insurance rates, and would be very expensive and unsatisfactory all around.

When the G. A. R. encampment met at Ottawa, the auto owners of that town had their cars on the street and each one took a personal interest in showing the visitors the town. It not only made the visitors feel at home, but they were delighted with the attention shown them, and carried home a good impression of the place and the people. If the same thing is done in Dodge City next week, the auto owners will be doing a valuable work for the town. It will be an attention the visitors will remember and the auto owners will be showing a public spirit that will be most commendable.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brunson entertained about fifty friends on Wednesday evening very pleasantly. During the evening a substitute for money was furnished each guest, and an auction was held. All sorts of packages which proved somewhat of a disappointment were bid in at high prices. When the money was about exhausted, the ladies for supper were auctioned off. Owing to the financial stringency at this time, some of the partners brought frightfully low prices, causing a great deal of merriment. Refreshments were served.

Dr. Crumblin of Topeka and Prof. Head of the State University were in Dodge City last week investigating the sewerage system and the water works, in view of an application made recently to attach new territory to the old sewer system here.

I have eight head of registered thoroughbred running colts, from yearlings up to 8 years of age, all very highly bred and some very fast ones now hitting to race. Would like to exchange for western land, as my business compels me to dispose of them.

On last Sunday afternoon Mr. Wallis D. Thomas and Mrs. Ida Mae Goring of this city were married, the Rev. A. M. Eels of the Presbyterian church performing the ceremony. The wedding occurred at the home of the bride's mother on Chestnut street and was witnessed by a number of the relatives of the contracting parties. The young couple have the best wishes of their many friends in Dodge City.

Have you paid your license tax since July 1909? Call at the City Clerk's Office. Otherwise you cannot collect your accounts.

Congressman Vic Murdock has sent word that he will be unable to attend the reunion next week, on account of another engagement. He was the first man invited by Judge Madison, of the invitation committee. Recently another personal invitation was sent by some of his old soldier friends in Dodge City. He has replied both to them and to Judge Madison, that he particularly regrets that he cannot be here, as his trips to the reunion are among his most pleasant remembrances.

J. M. Kirkpatrick was notified yesterday that he had drawn claim No. 1525 in the Flathead reservation. This number will probably be worth looking after. Many registered, who will never pay any attention to the claims after learning that they did not draw a low number. Possibly fifty per cent will not return, and Mr. Kirkpatrick's number may drop to 1000 or under. There are between 2000 and 3000 claims in the reservation so that this number may capture a very good piece of land. E. M. Miesner, who also drew in the Flathead has been notified that his number is 1,940. A. B. Reeves, who drew in the Couer d'Alene, has number 1,981, and as there is a limited number of claims there, he will probably not return in April to file.

Star and Capital Endorse Congress- man Madison's Action on Tariff Measure.

Congressman Madison of Kansas declares that he finally voted for the Tariff Bill because he knew that it was the best bill that the present congress would pass. But Mr. Madison does not make this declaration from the same viewpoint as the reactionary congressmen from Kansas who offer an excuse, verbally the same, for their votes.

Mr. Madison voted against the high schedules of the bill all the way through. He also voted against the conference report on the measure and supported the motion to recommit the bill to the conferees—the real test between the honest revisionists and the Canon-Payne protectionists.

When Mr. Madison declares that it was the best bill possible "under the circumstances," he has the satisfaction of knowing that he was not one of the "circumstances" that blocked the way to a better bill.—Kansas City Star Thursday morning, August 12.

Congressman Madison says that he voted finally for the tariff bill because there was no way left for improving it. That's all right. As long as there was a way Judge Madison cast his vote for improvement. He also voted to recommit the bill after the conference report had come in. Madison and Murdock may differ now and then in matters of detail, but they are two congressmen of a kind, and they suit Kansas.—Topeka Capital, Friday morning, August 13.

An event that was particularly enjoyed by a large number of people of Dodge City was a reception held last Saturday evening at the home of Judge and Mrs. W. H. Preston, in honor of his 70th birthday anniversary. The affair was arranged as a surprise to Mr. Preston, and the surprise continued throughout the evening as one crowd after another arrived. The home and the pleasant lawn at the Preston home held a large crowd of friends. Refreshments were served on small tables both in the house and on the lawn. Among the presents received by Mr. Preston was an elegant leather rocker, a fine gold-headed cane, a silk umbrella, a handsome book written by an old time neighbor of Mr. Preston, a watch fob, pin, gold pen and a handsome necktie. In the crowd were a number of the old soldier friends of Judge Preston, and different friends and neighbors who have known him for the past twenty years. Judge Preston is one of the number, who as early settlers saw pretty hard times in Western Kansas, but stayed with it and looked forward to the time when this part of the country would be the prosperous happy community that it is at the present. His friends greatly enjoyed the evening at his comfortable home, and all wished him many more happy birthdays.

Mr. G. C. Brown expects to be located in Dodge City now in a short time, when he will give all of his attention to work on the southwest railroad project. He has parties in Hutchinson interested in the road in addition to the people of this part of the state, and will start to stronger than ever.

Walter Dellinger went to Denver the first of the week, where he is to be married to Miss Grace Shaffer who moved to Denver from Dodge City a few months ago.
